FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear Parishioners,

In today's liturgy, the Old Testament reading presents to us the figure of King Solomon, the son and successor of David. It presents him at the beginning of his reign, when he was still very young. Solomon inherited a very demanding task and the responsibility that lay heavily on his shoulders was great for a young king. He first of all offered God a solemn sacrifice, "a thousand burnt offerings", as the Bible says. Then the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night and promised to grant him what he asked in prayer. And here we see the greatness of Solomon's soul. He did not ask for a long life, nor wealth, nor the elimination of his enemies; instead he said to the Lord: "Give your servant, therefore, an understanding heart to judge your people and to distinguish right from wrong" (1 Kings 3:9). And the Lord heard him, so that Solomon became famous throughout the world for his wisdom and his right judgements.

Therefore he prayed God to grant him "an understanding heart". What do these words mean? We know that the "heart" in the Bible does not only indicate a part of the body, but also the centre of the person, the seat of his intentions and opinions. We might say: the conscience. Thus, an "understanding heart" means a conscience that knows how to listen, one that is sensitive to the voice of truth and for this reason can discern right from wrong.

In Solomon's case, the request was motivated by the responsibility of leading a nation, Israel, the people whom God chose to show the world his plan of salvation. The King of Israel, therefore, had to try always to be in tune with God, listening to his word, in order to guide the people on the paths of the Lord, the path of justice and of peace.

However, Solomon's example is valid for every person. Each one of us has a conscience so as to be, in a certain way, "king", that is, to exercise the great human dignity of acting in accordance with an upright conscience, doing what is right and avoiding wrong.

The moral conscience presupposes the ability to hear the voice of truth and to be docile to its indications. People who are called to the task of government naturally have a further responsibility and therefore — as Solomon teaches — are in even greater need of God's help. Yet each one has his own part to play in the concrete situation in which he finds himself.

Let us ask the Virgin Mary, Seat of Wisdom, for help in this. May the Blessed Virgin help us to form in ourselves, with God's grace, a conscience ever open to the truth and sensitive to justice, to serve the Kingdom of God.

ARCHBISHOP'S COLUMN

BEFORE THE CROSS | The world needs images of faith in action

Images of faith can move the heart in a way that words can't Archbishop

Robert J. Carlson
Twitter: @abp_carlson

It's as if God said: "Let's do something that speaks to the imagination!"

God has the prophet Jeremiah put on a loincloth that has rotted, to symbolize the rotten state of Israel's faith. Then, when Jeremiah fears that people will oppose his prophetic message, God doesn't just tell him not to worry. He says: I will make you "a solid wall of brass" against the people. God sends Jeremiah to the potter's house. There he sees that, when a piece of work doesn't turn out the way the potter wants, he throws it back and starts over — symbolizing what God is about to do with Israel.

Alongside the prophetic images of Jeremiah, Jesus tells a series of parables. The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard seed, like yeast, like a net thrown into the sea. The world is like a farmer's field when an enemy has sown weeds into it.

Images — we get that! Just like the Scriptures we read this week, our culture is filled with images. The Arch, the Cathedral Basilica of Saint Louis, the Twin Towers. Mother Teresa, John Paul II, Michael Brown and George Floyd. Peaceful protests that pierce the conscience of a nation; rage and destruction that deepen the divide. Some images teach us by example, showing us what's right in the world. Some images teach us by counter-example, showing us what's broken in the world. Both are important lessons.

One of the most powerful images of recent months came from Dr. Marie Paul Lockerd, a Religious Sister of Mercy and a physician. When almost all of the retired priests of Regina Cleri came down with COVID-19, she moved into the building, quarantined herself with them and served as their physician. She was the proverbial firefighter: running into the burning building rather than away from it.

You might say: "that's crazy!" You might say: "that's heroic!" I think she would say: "I consecrated myself to bring the mercy of God into the world. I was just living my vocation."

I say: that's a living image of faith in action.

The world needs more of that from us. St. John Henry Newman taught that images make the difference between a faith that's purely theoretical and a faith that moves people to act. St. Peter Chrysologus once said: "God has made you in His image that you might, in your person, make the invisible creator present on earth." He lived 1,400 years before Newman, but he grasped the same point: the world needs images. It needs us to be living images of God's love.

There's an inscription above the back entrance to the Saint Louis Art Museum. It says: "Art still has truth. Take refuge there." In a world that has given up on theory, there's another path to truth. Beauty can pierce people's defenses when they've given up on words.

The same is true of faith. We should never give up presenting the faith in words! But a living image of faith can move the heart in a way that words can't.

Let's do something with our lives and with our faith that captivates the imagination of today's world.

Archdiocese of St. Louis Schools Update on 2020-2021 School Year

ST. LOUIS - As school re-opening guidelines from the CDC and local county health departments regarding the COVID-19 pandemic are updated on a regular basis, the Office of Catholic Education and Formation has been closely monitoring the information to ensure all health and safety guidelines are being communicated and addressed for the 2020-2021 school year. The Archdiocesan Transition Task Force provided guidance on Faith Formation and Community Building, Teaching and Learning, and Operations and Logistics to all schools and religious education programs.

At this time, students, faculty and staff of more than 100 Archdiocese of St. Louis Schools—spanning 11 city/county jurisdictions—intend to return to campus buildings at the beginning of this upcoming school year contingent upon any new information disseminated over the next few weeks. Schools will only return to campus buildings after executing thorough planning in order to deliver instructional, co-curricular, and faith formation programs within the context of social distancing/health/safety procedures, educational best practices, and mission-fulfillment.

Each individual school will continue to follow the directives and guidelines of its local government and county health department regarding opening/closing of school buildings as well as social distancing, health, and safety procedures and protocols. All schools are developing individualized plans based on location, enrollment numbers, facility size and design, constituents served, and information from local authorities. The administration of each school will communicate specific plans with their school and parish communities.

More information about Archdiocese of St. Louis Schools can be found at archstlcatholicschools.org.

The Kingdom of Heaven

Jesus Christ applies beautiful parables to describe the Kingdom of Heaven to His disciples and emphasizes the truth that nothing is as precious as our heavenly homeland. Nothing is too important not to let go of on earth in order that we attain eternal beatitude with God. Heaven is the pearl of greatest price on which we must fix our eyes as we journey through this vale of tears. We experience many distractions, especially in our culture today, such as an inordinate appreciation of wealth, prestige, honor, fame, and status. How often we care too much about sports, our grades, our jobs, or the latest technology. Simplify. Simplify. Simplify. There is only one thing that matters. Are we willing to seek above all else the Kingdom of Heaven (Mt 6:33)?

Mass for Father of All Mankind

In 1932, God the Father dictated the following message to Mother Eugenia: I desire only this —

I desire that one day, or at least a Sunday, be dedicated to honoring Me in a special way under the title of Father of All mankind. If you prefer to offer Me this special devotion on a Sunday, I choose the first Sunday of August. My hour has come! I must be known, loved and honored by men, so that having created them I can be their Father, then their Savior and finally the object of their eternal delight.

* All COVID-19 precautions will be observed. Please wear a mask. *

Infant Baptism

According to the mind of the Church, parents are obliged to see that infants are baptized within the first weeks after birth. As soon as possible after the birth, or even before it, parents should request the sacrament for their child and arrange to be properly instructed in preparation for it. If you are a registered parishioner who is or is about to become a parent or godparent, please contact the rectory at 314-373-8202 to schedule a baptism.

Weekly Thoughts on Giving

"We know that all things work for good for those who love God, who are called according to his purpose." (Rom 8:28)

Do you really trust God? Do you really believe that God will provide all that you need? Faith is a challenge for everyone at times. Putting our trust in God, in everything we do, in good times and in bad, means that God's plan for our lives may be quite different than what we planned. When one door closes, another one opens. Trust in God, His plan is always better.
