FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear Parishioners,

The month of November draws its special spiritual tone from the two days with which it opens: the Solemnity of All Saints and the Commemoration of all the Faithful Departed (All Souls). The mystery of the communion of saints illuminates this month directing our meditation to the earthly destiny of each one of us in light of Christ's Paschal Mystery.

We have a great response for our Cathedral Basilica All Souls Novena beginning on All Souls Day. We will remember these souls at a Mass each day of the Novena, beginning on All Souls Day, November 2. Also on November 2, the Archbishop will be here to celebrate a special Mass to remember the priests of the Archdiocese of St. Louis who died this year in addition to those we pray for during our Novena. There will be candles placed along the sanctuary that symbolize the lives of each priest who passed away in the last year.

It was in the middle of the 11th Century that St. Odilo, Abbot of Cluny (France), decreed that all Cluniac monasteries offer special prayers and sing the Office for the Dead on November 2, the day after the feast of All Saints. The custom spread from Cluny and was finally adopted throughout the Roman Church. Throughout the month of November, the Book of the Dead - another custom commemorating our deceased - will be located in the All Saints Chapel. Please feel free to inscribe the names of your loved ones in this book so that we may remember them.

As we pray for our deceased loved ones, it bears a calling to mind the teaching of purgatory. I truly like what Pope Benedict once said in one of his homilies: "Purgatory basically means that God can put the pieces back together again." Which leads to ask the question what will it be like?

Saint Catherine of Genoa, a mystic known for her vision of purgatory indicates that it will be a type of fire, though not like that used to describe the experience of hell. "Rust which is sin, covers souls, and ... is burnt away by fire, the more it is consumed, the more the soul responds to God. ... As the rust lessens and the soul is opened to the divine rays, happiness grows," she wrote.

Fire has a lot of effects: light, heat, warmth and destruction. But when a precious metal is placed in its midst, it's purified and perfected. Purgatory is a letting go of habits, vices, and ways of thinking or knowing that prevented us from loving as we ought during our lifetime.

The poet Dante likened the soul's experience in purgatory to climbing a mountain, the summit being paradise. The climber might have to shed things that are bogging him down on the ascent. That process, of course, can be grueling, but with every step, one moves closer to the goal.

ARCHBISHOP'S COLUMN

The Word became flesh so that we could become partakers in the divine nature

ARCHBISHOP

SERVE THE LORD
WITH GLADNESS

No matter where we start, Jesus is willing to walk with us toward purification, asking only for us to take each step with Him

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

“O marvelous exchange!”

As we celebrate All Saints Day (Nov. 1) and All Souls Day (Nov. 2), I'd like to reflect on the idea of the “exchange” Jesus completes by His Incarnation, Passion and Death.

St. Paul summarizes it this way: “Jesus Christ became poor although He was rich, so that by His poverty you might become rich” (2 Corinthians 8:9). In the Incarnation, Jesus takes all that we have and, in exchange, gives us all that He has. That's a good trade!

Or so it seems at the conceptual level. At the practical level, however, we resist it! To overcome that resistance, it's important that we not be mistaken about two things.

First is the traditional theological concept of deification. It seems odd, at first, to think that we could really receive, by grace, the divinity of Jesus. But that's what the Bible teaches: the Word became flesh “to make us partakers of the divine nature” (2 Peter 1:4). It's what the Fathers of the Church such as St. Athanasius taught: “For the Son of God became man, so that we might become God.” It's what St. Thomas Aquinas taught: “The only begotten Son of God, wanting to make us sharers in His divinity, assumed our nature, so that He, made man, might make men gods.”

The promise of Christianity, in the words of Fulton Sheen, is not to turn us into “nice people.” It is that, by God's grace, we would become what C.S. Lewis once called “creatures you would be strongly tempted to worship.”

But that astonishing promise comes with a requirement, and the requirement makes us hesitate. In 1 John 3:3 it is written: “Everyone who has this hope based on Him makes himself pure, as He (Christ) is pure.” Are we willing to be purified? And that's not an isolated biblical quote. The line of reasoning stretches back to Leviticus 19 when God tells the Israelites: “You shall be holy, for I, the Lord your God, am holy.” It's present in the heart of the Sermon on the Mount, where Jesus says: “So be perfect, just as your heavenly Father is perfect.” It's one of the final points in the final book of the Bible: “Nothing unclean shall enter it (the Heavenly Jerusalem)” (Revelation 21:27).

St. Paul puts a fine point on the connection when he says: “For if we have grown into union with Him through a death like His, we shall also be united with Him in the resurrection” (Romans 6:5). It's a big “if”! Our end of the exchange requires that we give all that we have, and that's the source of our hesitation: we're not sure we want to. The choice is simple. It just isn't easy.

That's the first thing we shouldn't mistake: the magnitude of the offer and the corresponding depth of the requirement.

Lest we despair, however, thinking it's all beyond our reach, it's important that we not be mistaken about another thing: where Jesus is willing to start. Fortunately, that point is amply illustrated in the Gospels: “The tax collectors and sinners were all drawing near to listen to Jesus, but the Pharisees and scribes began to complain, saying, ‘This man welcomes sinners and eats with them’” (Luke 15:1-2).

God bless the Pharisees and scribes for making the point clear: Jesus is willing to start wherever we are! He's not ashamed to meet us at any starting point. He only asks us to take each step with Him. He'll provide the direction and the strength.

And the time! The fact of the matter is — and this is a personal observation, not a dogmatic statement — most people haven't reached perfection by the time they die. That's where purgatory comes in. It's an extension of God's plan for where He wants us to be — perfectly purified — combined with His mercy for where we are — not quite there yet — and His patience for how the plan unfolds — by our cooperation with His grace.

On All Saints day we celebrate those for whom the marvelous exchange is already complete. On All Souls day we celebrate those who are still on the way. If we situate ourselves with respect to both groups — those at the goal, and those on the path — our own way forward will become more clear.

Pro-Life Mass

Remember to join us at the Cathedral Basilica on the third Saturday of each month for a pro-life Mass at 8:00 a.m., followed with a rosary procession to Planned Parenthood at Boyle and Forest Park. The next Mass is scheduled for Saturday, November 20.

40 Days for Life

The Cathedral Basilica Parish has adopted Sunday, October 31, as its day for the 40 Days for Life vigil of quiet prayer outside of the Planned Parenthood on Forest Park Avenue.

The Cathedral Pro-Life Ministry would like to invite you to this beautiful witness for the unborn. If you are interested in spending an hour of peaceful prayer between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. that day, please email bryankirchoff@att.net to request a time.

Infant Baptism

According to the mind of the Church, parents are obliged to see that infants are baptized within the first weeks after birth. As soon as possible after the birth, or even before it, parents should request the sacrament for their child and are to be properly instructed in preparation for it. Godparents are also encouraged to attend baptismal preparation before the child is born. If you are a registered parishioner who is or is about to become a parent or godparent, contact the parish office at 314-373-8202 to schedule a baptism or to register for baptismal preparation class.

Daily Readings for the Week...

The readings are included each week so that the parishioners who are unable to join us for daily Mass will be able to consider and pray them in union with the whole Church.

Weekly Thoughts on Giving

"For the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve and to give his life as a ransom for many." (Mk 10:45)

If you held a mirror up to your life, would it reflect God's love and mercy? If you are struggling with this, try changing your attitude from "I want more" to "thank you God for everything you have given me, I have enough to share". This change in perspective will bring you joy through service to others. Pray daily to become less self-centered and to become more God-centered.

All Souls Novena At The Cathedral Basilica

As the seasons change and we anticipate the beginning of November, our thoughts turn to our deceased loved ones as we prepare for the liturgical feasts of All Saints and All Souls. We remember them in life and we pray that "perpetual light will shine on them" and God will welcome them into eternal joy.

You are invited to remember deceased loved ones in prayer during the Cathedral Basilica's All Souls Novena, nine days of prayer for the departed, beginning on November 2. Please send us the names of the deceased loved ones you wish included in the Novena, and they will be remembered collectively in a Mass each day for nine days.

In addition to our prayer, the name and image of your loved one will be displayed in our chapel, and you will receive a lovely Mass card with the name of your departed loved one inscribed inside.

Let us remember our departed loved ones by storming the gates of heaven with prayers on their behalf, praying with confidence the words: "Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord. May perpetual light shine upon them."

Enrollment for the All Souls Remembrance is available for purchase on our website at <https://cathedralstl.org/all-souls>.
