WELCOME TO OUR VISITORS

Archbishop Mitchell T. Rozanski and the people of the Archdiocese of St. Louis welcome you and hope that your time in our Mother Church may be an opportunity to share our faith and joy in Jesus Christ.

Please enjoy the beauty of this building dedicated to the glory of God and built for the inspiration of all who enter. Public tours of the Cathedral led by volunteer guides are available most weekdays, call for availability.

All visitors who are not of the Catholic faith are welcome to join us in prayer, but not to receive Holy Communion. Reception of Holy Communion is a sign of unity of faith and full membership in the Catholic community. Together let us pray for the eventual unity of all believers.

If you desire to become a member of the Catholic Church or to become a member of the Cathedral Basilica Parish, please complete a registration card, available at the entrances the church.

All contributions to the Cathedral Basilica parish, ministries, and maintenance are sincerely appreciated.

FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear Parishioners,

Along with Saint Louis IX, the Archdiocese has two other patrons: Saint Rose Philippine Duchesne and Saint Vincent de Paul. This past Friday, we celebrated the Feast of Saint Vincent, who was born in Pouy, France in 1581 and ordained a priest on September 23, 1600. Vincent devoted himself entirely to the alleviation of suffering of the poor.

To that cause, he established the Confraternities of Charities or Ladies of Charity, and in 1625 he founded the Congregation of the Mission, his community of priests and brothers. With Louise de Marillac, he cofounded the Daughters of Charity in 1633. We are blessed to have a number of the Daughters of Charity in the Cathedral Parish. St. Vincent died on September 27, 1660 and was canonized in 1737 when Pope Leo XIII declared him patron of all works of charity.

It important to recall his life as it has great impact on how we should live ours. St. Vincent de Paul said: "What a joy it is to serve the person of Christ in his poor members!". And this he did with his entire life. Here are a few more of St. Vincent's maxims that we may want to think about as we seek to grow in holiness:

- The poor are your masters. You are the servant.
- Humility is nothing but truth, and pride is nothing but lying.
- Be careful to give no credit to yourself for anything; if you do, you are stealing from God, to whom alone every good thing is due.
- The most powerful weapon to conquer the devil is humility. For, as he does not know at all how to employ it, neither does he know how to defend himself from it.
- Go to the poor: you will find God.
- We should spend as much time in thanking God for his benefits as we do in asking him for them.
- Make it a practice to judge persons and things in the most favorable light at all times and under all circumstances.
- Fear not; calm will follow the storm, and perhaps soon.
- Virtue is not found in extremes, but in prudence, which I recommend as strongly as I can.
- There is nothing good that does not meet with opposition, and it should not be valued any less because it encounters objections.

ARCHBISHOP'S COLUMN

God's Mysterious Ways Pass Through the Cross, Not Around It.

Jesus and Job are examples of how we can respond when we face challenges we don't understand.

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

We read from the Book of Job this week.

Job faced a deep existential challenge through a series of events involving suffering. We each have our own version of this, even when the specifics differ.

What can we learn from Job in facing our own challenges? Many things, to be sure! But one that stands out is the tension Job experiences between holding fast to God's standard of how things should go and calling God to my standard of how things should go.

For most of the book, Job holds fast! He lets God be God. But the book finds its dramatic high point when Job gets out of his lane and asks God to answer for His ways.

We all know what that moment is like! It's understandable — in Job, and in every one of us. God's ways don't always make sense to us.

What's interesting and instructive, however, is that we read about another approach to God's mysterious ways this week. In the Gospel of Luke, we read how Jesus was "resolutely determined to journey to Jerusalem."

In Jerusalem, Jesus — like Job — would suffer. And this happened even though Jesus — like Job — was innocent of any wrongdoing. The difference, however, is this: In the Garden of Gethsemane, Jesus stays in His lane. He lets God be God. And there He's teaching us a lesson: that God's mysterious ways pass through the cross, not around it.

Job was an icon of ancient Israel: tempted to rebel against God in the face of suffering. But Job was also a prefigurement of Jesus: the innocent who suffers, and whom God blesses more greatly afterward. Finally, Job — when seen in the light of Jesus — is also a lesson for us: We know what it's like to call God to task and to have to repent and get back in our lane.

Job's presumption lives in each of us; Jesus' surrender lives in each of us, too. So we need to help each other in the time of challenge — to follow Jesus rather than Job when things don't make sense.

We also celebrate a remarkable lineup of saints this week! St. Jerome (Sept. 30) was a man of deep scholarship but also a bit of a temper! St. Therese of Lisieux (Oct. 1) was simple and sweet but also deep in her surrender. St. Francis of Assisi (Oct. 4) was radical in his poverty but also magnetic.

Thinking of these saints we have to laugh when we read — twice this week! — about how the apostles were arguing about who among them was the greatest. But if we laugh, we also have to wince because we know that the same argument lives in our own hearts.

We regularly compare ourselves to others. That comparison, whether favorable or unfavorable, tends to be unhelpful because it focuses on gifts we haven't been given, rather than helping us develop the gifts we have been given.

This week's saints show us a better way: we can recognize and exercise our own gifts, even while celebrating the gifts of others. As St. Gregory of Nyssa says: "If you try to outdo one another in showing respect, your life on earth will be like that of angels."

Living like Jesus in the face of suffering and living like angels in the face of others' gifts is not easy! But it's the high call of Christian life.

RCIA

Have you ever thought about becoming a Catholic?

Do you know someone who might be interested in becoming Catholic?

Are you interested in finding out more about the Catholic Church?

Is your spouse, fiancé, neighbor, or friend interested?

The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (or RCIA) enables those who are interested in the Catholic faith to “find out what it is all about”. Most often, people come because they are invited.

Be the voice of Christ and offer the first invitation to someone you know who might be interested in the Catholic faith!

RCIA is for persons who have never been baptized, were baptized in another Christian tradition, or were baptized Catholic but have never celebrated Confirmation or received First Communion. It is also open to anyone who is interested in learning more about what Catholics believe and why we believe it. You are invited if you've been Catholic all your life, if you have a passing interest in the Catholic faith, or if you are anywhere in between!

The 2024-25 RCIA session will begin September 8.

To register or for additional information, please contact
Fr. Zac Povis at 314.373.8204 or zacharypovis@archstl.org

About the Instructor Fr. Peter Fonseca was ordained a priest for the Archdiocese of St. Louis in 2015. He holds a Master of Arts in Theology and a Master of Divinity from Kenrick-Glennon Seminary. Additionally, he holds a Master of Science in Bioethics from the University of Mary, where he was chosen by the faculty as the distinguished graduate student, and a certification in Catholic Healthcare Ethics from the National Catholic Bioethics Center.

Having previously served as a pastor, Fr. Fonseca is now assigned as the Director of Continuing Formation for Priests for the Archdiocese of St. Louis while pursuing doctoral studies in health care ethics at St. Louis University. While studying at SLU, he has taught in the undergraduate program and served as a research fellow for the Catholic Health Association. In addition to his canonical assignments, he serves as a consultor to various parties in the Archdiocese of St. Louis and the greater St. Louis area on bioethical issues. Fr. Fonseca has presented at various conferences and seminars across the country and has contributed to local television and national radio programs.
