FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear Parishioners,

In his encyclical, Caritas In Veritate, Pope Benedict the XVI addressed issues related to life:

“When a society moves towards the denial or suppression of life, it ends up no longer finding the necessary motivation and energy to strive for man's true good. If personal and social sensitivity towards the acceptance of a new life is lost, then other forms of acceptance that are valuable for society also wither away. The acceptance of life strengthens moral fiber and makes people capable of mutual help. By cultivating openness to life, wealthy peoples can better understand the needs of poor ones, they can avoid employing huge economic and intellectual resources to satisfy the selfish desires of their own citizens, and instead, they can promote virtuous action within the perspective of production that is morally sound and marked by solidarity, respecting the fundamental right to life of every people and every individual (no. 28, 4).”

Let us renew our prayer and efforts to support the dignity of human life. We are saddened by losing more than 60 million children to procured abortions. You are invited to take part in the Annual Pro-Life Memorial Mass on Saturday, January 18, 2025, at 8:00 am at the Cathedral Basilica. Following Mass, the Rosary will be prayed and a reception will follow in Boland Hall.

On this Sunday that follows the Solemnity of the Epiphany, we are celebrating the Baptism of the Lord. This was the first act of his public life, recounted in all four Gospels. Having reached the age of about 30, Jesus left Nazareth, went to the River Jordan and, in the midst of a great crowd of people, had himself baptized by John.

Mark the Evangelist writes: "And when he came up out of the water, immediately he saw the heavens opened and the Spirit descending upon him like a dove; and a voice came down from heaven, "You are my beloved Son; in you I am well pleased" (Mk 1: 10-11). These words, "You are my beloved Son" reveal what eternal life is: it is the filial relationship with God, just as Jesus lived it and gave it to us.

Now our celebration of Christmas concludes. The Child, who the Magi came to adore at Bethlehem offering their gifts, and our attention now will be drawn away from this scene to discover Christ among us. The eternal truth of Christmas we take with us: That God so loved the world that he gave us his only begotten Son.

ARCHBISHOP'S COLUMN

Let Jesus Challenge Our Assumed Scales of Value

Obstacles are not hindrances to spiritual growth but the very things that help us grow

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

We leave the Christmas season and enter Ordinary Time this week, and we begin a long stretch of readings from the Letter to the Hebrews.

Hebrews is concerned with overturning a key assumption of ancient Greek culture: that anything in the spiritual realm was greater than everything in the physical realm. If that were true, then Jesus, because He came in the flesh, must be lesser than the angels. But Jesus is God in the flesh and is exalted above the angels! That overturned an assumed scale of values in the ancient world. And that should get us thinking: Are there any assumed scales of values in our culture that need to be challenged by Jesus?

Hebrews also tells us that Jesus was made perfect through suffering. That not only challenged ancient assumptions; it challenges us today! Why should Jesus be perfected by suffering rather than by having everything go right? Shouldn't He "rise through the corporate ladder" of the spiritual life in an unbroken line of success?

But the fact that it strikes us as odd is the measure of how far we've departed from God's way of doing things! Deeper reflection on our own experience confirms this truth: Obstacles are often not hindrances to spiritual growth but the very things that help us grow. Still, we manage to run from those crosses rather than embrace them and surrender to God through them.

Finally, remember that Jesus is specifically known as "Jesus of Nazareth." Not Athens; not Rome; not Alexandria; not Jerusalem. Jesus didn't hail from any of the centers of ancient worldly power. In today's terms, we might say: He didn't go to an Ivy League school, and He didn't work for a Fortune 500 company. If there was an ancient bias for what power looks like and where it comes from, we share it!

ARCHBISHOP MITCHELL
ROZANSKI

SERVE THE LORD WITH GLADNESS

So when we hear in the Gospel of Mark this week that Jesus chose fishermen as His first disciples and that He was eating with tax collectors and sinners, we ought to say: "We might have guessed it! Choosing the small and the lowly — that's His way."

We have our own assumed categories today. I think we need to let Jesus challenge them.

We act surprised when Jesus calls us to evangelize, because we don't have theology degrees. We have a hard time believing that Jesus wants to work through our weaknesses, not only our strengths. We're surprised when we find that programs are less effective for spreading the Gospel than individual invitations. We struggle to accept that depth of interaction can be a more important measure of success than number of attendees. We get impatient when an evangelizing culture takes years to develop. But aren't those all rooted in how Jesus has always acted?

The Letter to the Hebrews says that Jesus "had to become like His brothers and sisters in every way." That meant, contrary to all ancient expectation, that He took on flesh and blood. It meant, contrary to all expectation, that He became small.

I think the same Jesus is at work in the Church today. Maybe, as a New Year's resolution, we could be more patient with His continued choice to be small and more confident in the power of His smallness.

Several of the MOC volunteered there recently and expressed their desire to return. Others have subsequently asked to participate. If you are interested, please send an email to: Michael.Weisbrod@rcfstl.org and we can determine a convenient Saturday each quarter to volunteer.

Blessings to you and your family this Christmas season.

Weekly Thoughts on Giving

"John answered them all, 'I baptize you with water; but he who is mightier than I is coming...he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit...' - Luke 3:16"

The Catholic Catechism states that "Jesus' immersion in the water is a sign for all human beings of the need to die to themselves to do God's will." In other words, as baptized Catholics there is only one gift that we need to give to Jesus – the gift of ourselves. Surrender yourself to God, place your trust in Him and allow the Holy Spirit to work through you for the greater glory of God.
