FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear Parishioners,

Today, the Gospel brings us back to the banks of the Jordan River to hear once again the voice of John the Baptist pointing to Jesus. His repeated testimony is not accidental. It reveals something deeply important about the Christian life: every one of us needs a spiritual witness—a “Baptist” in our own life—someone guided by the Holy Spirit who helps us see the Lord more clearly.

So often we are weighed down by our own concerns, anxieties, and preoccupations. It becomes easy to keep our eyes fixed on ourselves and difficult to notice the presence of God in our midst. That would have been true for the crowds along the Jordan as well—if not for John. It was through his Spirit-filled vision that others came to recognize Jesus. As he proclaimed, “Here is the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world,” some of his own disciples began to follow Christ, even before they were formally called.

John did not recognize Jesus because of personal insight or human cleverness. He recognized Him because the Spirit revealed Him. God had told him that the one upon whom the Spirit would descend and remain was the One who would baptize with the Holy Spirit. John’s role was not to draw attention to himself, but to point beyond himself to the One who saves.

That same Spirit is needed in our own time. We live in a world burdened by violence, division, and discouragement. It can feel as though resignation to evil and suffering has become normal. But the Gospel does not resign itself. It continues to proclaim hope. Even today, in this Holy Liturgy, we hear John’s words echoed once again: “Behold the Lamb of God.”

To be baptized means to be immersed. At every Mass, we are immersed again in the Holy Spirit—in the life, mercy, and mission of the Church—so that we may become a river of grace flowing into the world. As Luke’s Gospel reminds us, Christ baptizes not only with the Spirit, but with fire: a fire of love, generosity, and joyful enthusiasm for the Gospel.

The final words of John the Baptist still bring comfort and courage: “One who is more powerful than I is coming.” In a world that often feels overwhelmed by darkness, we remember that nothing is impossible for God.

May we allow the Spirit to open our eyes, so that we too may recognize the Lamb of God in our midst—and then go forth as witnesses of His mercy to the world.

ARCHBISHOP'S COLUMN

God's Mercy is Offered; Our Response is Chosen

Jesus offers us the grace of a second chance to decide for or against His love

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

The Word of God doesn't always convert a person's heart — look at the mission and ministry of Jesus!

But the Word does always reveal a person's heart — and in that revelation, the person receives a second chance to decide for or against His love.

We see many examples of this truth in the readings this week. Let's consider just one: the episode of the man with the withered hand, from Mark 3:1-6.

The question in the background was: Is it lawful — and is it good — to heal on the sabbath or not? And we need to realize, first, that it was a legitimate question. There was no sin in the question itself.

But, second: Notice the attitude of heart of those who were watching Jesus. "They watched Jesus closely ... so that they might accuse Him." The attitude of their hearts isn't good. But that initial attitude is not the end of the story. A second chance is coming.

The second chance comes when Jesus heals the man and explains why it is lawful (and good) to heal on the sabbath. When given this second chance, which will they choose — to repent or dig in their heels? The episode concludes with this: "The Pharisees went out and immediately took counsel with the Herodians against Him to put Him to death."

We hear about the death of Saul (and his son Jonathan) this week — an event which clears the way for David to become king of ancient Israel (2 Samuel 1:1-4). We know very well that David wasn't a perfect man or king. When he commits adultery, which we'll read about next week, we see very clearly that there's evil in his heart. But then God sends the prophet Nathan to uncover the sin, giving David a chance to reconsider the attitude of his heart. What is David's reaction? Utter repentance. Psalm 51 captures this moment: "Have mercy on me God, in your kindness; in your compassion blot out my offense."

What about us?

That there's a measure of evil in our hearts is no surprise to the Lord! We see, throughout the life and ministry of Jesus, that it didn't stop Him from drawing near to people. The same is true with us: He draws near, not only to the parts of us that are good, but also to those parts of our hearts that need conversion. (The same, by the way, needs to be true of our approach to others!)

But when Jesus gave people a second chance, He also took their choice seriously. He wanted them to be converted, to follow Him, but He also allowed them to walk away. He does the same with us. That's why His mercy is always available, but our salvation isn't guaranteed.

This week, we observe the "Day of Prayer for the Legal Protection of the Unborn" on Jan. 22. Two years ago, we — as citizens of the state of Missouri — showed a part of our hearts when we voted for an unlimited abortion license. This coming year, we'll have a chance to reconsider. Will we dig in our heels or repent? It's a good week to pray that we'll make the most of our second chance.

Stewardship Reflection

"Now the Lord has spoken who formed me as his servant from the womb..." ISAIAH 49:5

God have given each of us different gifts. In order for God's plan to work, you have to do what God is calling you to do, and I have to do what God is calling me to do. And guess what? God has given each of us a different plan! So, stop comparing yourself to others. Don't let envy and jealousy enter your life. Be thankful for the gifts God has given you and become the saint that God is calling you to be.

STEWARDSHIP ALIVE!

Why A Registered Parishioner

Due to the number of requests for baptisms and weddings, the Cathedral Parish adopted a policy years ago that generally requires parents to be registered parishioners of the parish before their infant may be baptized here, or for an engaged person to be a registered parishioner and practicing Catholic for a minimum of one year for preferred dates and for a more modest stipend. Non-parishioners must be registered in a Catholic parish somewhere and will need to secure their pastor's permission to be baptized or married outside of their proper parish before we can schedule any ceremony. If you attend Mass at the Cathedral regularly but have not yet registered, register online at <https://cathedralstl.org/about-basilica/parish-life> or call the parish office for more info!

Rectory Office Closed

The Rectory Office will be closed on Monday, January 19 for the Martin Luther King, Jr Holiday. We will reopen on Tuesday morning at 8:30am.
